Animal Rescue Organizations Invited to Participate in the Marion County Fair

SALEM, OR - Continuing its support of community organizations, the Marion County Fair is excited to promote "Rescue Row." "Rescue Row" is one of the fair's newest programs and offers animal rescue organizations the opportunity to showcase animals awaiting adoption, to educate the public about their work, and to demonstrate the importance of their mission.

Rescue row will be located in the exhibit building, which houses open class exhibits, non-profit organizations, the community stage and commercial vendors. Animals are allowed in the building if they meet certain parameters such as size, crate-ability, quiet demeanor, etc. This year's fair will be held July 7-10 at the Oregon State Fairgrounds & Exposition Center.

Information and registration forms can be found on the fair website at www.mcfair.net or by calling the fair office at (503) 585-9998.
