OREGON KNOWLEDGE BANK

A CLEARINGHOUSE FOR OREGON CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Visit Oregon's newest public safety resource at okb.oregon.gov.

The Oregon Knowledge Bank (OKB) is Oregon's newest resource for Oregon-based public safety programs and research. Visit okb.oregon.gov to learn about successful law enforcement and correctional programs operating in Oregon, view practical summaries of research on Oregon-based solutions, and search the only statewide public safety agency directory. Launched in December 2015, the OKB is used by over 1,000 public safety professionals each month. Growing on a daily basis, the OKB currently features over 100 programs and research summaries.

PROGRAMS

The OKB collects program submissions from police departments, sheriff's offices, and community corrections agencies in Oregon on a rolling basis. With your contributions, we are building a searchable library of successful and innovative policing, community supervision, and jail-based programs.

RESEARCH

Criminology experts are identifying and summarizing Oregon-based research studies and providing relevant results and practical advice to practitioners.

AGENCY DIRECTORY

The OKB is compiling a comprehensive statewide directory of all public safety agencies. With your help, the agency directory will include contact information and details on specialized services for all agencies.

THE OKB WANTS YOUR PROGRAMS!

What programs does your agency operate to prevent crime, address quality of life concerns, or enhance public safety? Add your agency to the list of dozens of departments that have shared their solutions and initiatives with the Oregon Knowledge Bank. Contribute today at okb.oregon.gov/submit-program.

Subscribe to the OKB Newsletter to receive monthly notifications about new resources and featured programs. Sign up at okb.oregon.gov.

The OKB is a joint initiative of the Department of Public Safety Standards and Training and the Criminal Justice Commission.
