Resources for a Better Tomorrow

As the holiday season approaches, we want to take a moment to remind you of the many resources available to support you and your family. While many services are located in Salem, we are committed to ensuring that residents of the housing authority have access to the support they may need. Our goal is to connect you with the right services or programs to enhance your health, counseling, financial well-being, education, and overall quality of life for you and your family.

Access to health care remains a cornerstone of community well-being, and we're fortunate to have programs like Marion County Health & Human Services, which offers behavioral health and wellness resources to all county residents. For those without insurance, Salem Free Clinics provides free medical and dental care, ensuring that no one has to go without essential services. For specific health services, dial 211 from your phone or visit www.211info.org.

Financial stability is especially important as we approach the new year. Programs like WorkSource Oregon, Goodwill Job Connection, and Easterseals' Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP) for seniors can help you build skills, find jobs, and navigate career changes. If you're preparing for tax season, local resources are available to assist with tax preparation and financial planning.

Education continues to be a vital resource for growth at every stage of life. Your local library offers numerous opportunities for fun and learning—how about picking up the ukulele? Libraries in our area are part of the Chemeketa Cooperative Regional Library Service. With your library card, you can access trustworthy product reviews from Consumer Reports and enjoy free on-demand video streaming through Kanopy, which features thousands of critically acclaimed movies, inspiring documentaries, and award-winning foreign films. Center 50+ provides seniors with opportunities to stay engaged and active through classes and workshops. While many of these resources are based in Salem, similar options are available in other communities—explore them online. Want to expand your cultural

A sense of connection and community is at the heart of the services we recommend. Programs like The ARCHES Project and Church at the Park offer support for housing stability. Whether you're seeking emergency assistance or looking for ways to connect with neighbors through community events, Marion County has programs to help.

As we look ahead to the new year, we're reminded of the
