

COVID-19

"I THINK I MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPOSED"

What is an exposure?

You might have been exposed if you were in close contact (6 ft or less) for more than 15 minutes with someone who has COVID-19.

If you develop symptoms, call a health care provider and seek testing right away.

What happens next?

A contact tracer working with the local public health authority will call to let you know that you have been in contact with someone who has COVID-19. They will ask you to quarantine.

In quarantine, safely isolate yourself from those you live with. If you don't have symptoms, it is still important to stay home and quarantine for 14 days to prevent spreading the virus.
