

Site images showing existing development.

Site images showing existing development.

Site images showing existing development and nonfarm use.

Site images showing open field area to the north where previous structures and development was located. The ground cover is predominately gravel with grasses growing through.

Previous Development on site showing Hay storage to the north where gravel was placed

