Local law enforcement agencies will also provide support for evacuation traffic control, criminal investigations, access control to incident sites and/or governmental facilities (including county and local ECCs), and could also support security at community care/sheltering facilities and hospitals, prisons, and other critical care facilities involved in emergency response activities.

3 Situation and Assumptions

Major emergency situations, may require law enforcement and security services beyond the scope of the day-to-day emergency response capabilities. These responsibilities include maintenance of law and order, traffic control, and civil unrest. Local agencies will have the primary responsibility for routine law enforcement and support groups (i.e., Public Works) will assist in traffic and crowd control.

ICS/NIMS processes will be adopted and used in the command and control of any law enforcement incident occurring within the County's jurisdiction.

5 Concept of Operations

The County ECC will be the primary location for coordination and control of emergency law enforcement operations for a major incident. Emergency response and recovery operations will be coordinated according to ICS/NIMS processes, and the lead law enforcement agency will assign the role of IC. When environmental conditions do not allow for coordination and control of emergency operations from the County ECC, the County Sheriff or designee may authorize control from other locations.

The Sheriff is responsible for directing the County's law enforcement response to a major emergency and coordinating response activities with the Emergency Coordination Center. The Sheriff or a designated representative shall serve as the Emergency Coordination Center's Law Enforcement Liaison, in the Operations Section, working as a member of Command and General Staff, coordinating the flow of law enforcement information and processing requests for and allocating additional law enforcement resources, as appropriate.

Police officials of incorporated cities within the County are responsible for the direction and control of local law enforcement resources during emergencies. Police officials of the incorporated cities are responsible for requesting additional resources not covered under mutual aid for emergency operations. Such requests shall be directed to the Sheriff's designated Law Enforcement Resource Coordinator in the ECC.

Volunteer or reserve law enforcement organizations shall work for and within the structure of their parent agencies.

Public Works agencies may be requested to assist in traffic control and providing transportation for evacuees.

Two-way radio communications for control of emergency operations and emergency communications with neighboring law enforcement and medical and health officials will be the same as those used for day-to-day operations. Telephone communications will be used for administrative purposes and for coordination and control if two-way radio communications are not available.

The Terrorism Incident Specific Annex provides direction and procedures specific to law enforcement services during a suspected or confirmed terrorism incident.
